

Homework 6a Write-up

Low-Fi

When creating a low-fi prototype, I thought about design patterns that users are already familiar within ecommerce experiences. I outline horizontal tabs that effectively showcase the items. Along each column of the tabs there is information on price, quantity. In the next iteration, I plan to also add a column that allows for checkout and payment methods. This format allows the user to see all their items, and effectively identify if there should be edits or removals.
